WAR ON RECKLESS AUTO DRIVERS

COLUMBUS CHIEF OF POLICE AFTER TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Ninety-Five Per Cent of Accidents Due to Carelessness of Motorists—Great Care Should be Exercised in Residence Streets Where Children Are to be Found.

Harry E. French, chief of the Columbus police department, is making an intensive drive against reckless automobile drivers.

"Every facility of the traffic division will be employed in the crusade which will continue for an indefinite period until accidents and mishaps due to carelessness is abated," the chief declared.

"Manslaughter on our public thoroughfares must stop, and our police officers will be instructed to start a clean-up," was the way he put it. "Altho the death rate and number of accidents in Columbus seems to be lessening yearly, and less lives among children from automobile accidents are being reported, our dockets are becoming congested with traffic violations and we intend to do something. Without increased facilities allowed to us thru city council, the traffic division will be enlarged and we intend to line up offenders, impartially and justly."

Chief French says that 95 per cent of the accidents are due to carelessness on the part of motorists and their failure to obey traffic regulations, the chief asserted and for this reason the crusade will be launched.

"The department intends to particularly enforce those sections of the traffic code regulating the passing of two motor vehicles at street intersections, turning corners and making signals for turning," the police head announced. "More accidents seem to result from such disregard of the laws than from any other cause. Many drivers pass other machines at street intersections, a direct violation, seemingly without a thought of the danger lurking there. Another practice which must be broken up is that of cutting corners to make left-hand turns, with no disregard for the laws governing such turns. Hand signals also should be employed by motorists in making turns as a warning to machines behind them. Auto drivers should keep in mind also that no turn should ever be made at a speed more than one-third of the legal speed at that particular section of the city."

"Many drivers are careful on congested business streets, but careless in residential and other districts where children are to be found in numbers."

"In spite of the danger, many children make the street their playground or in chasing each other or a ball they may suddenly dash into the street in front of a moving vehicle."

"Drivers should assume that every child on or near the street is going to dash suddenly in front of their cars. You cannot tell by looking at a child what it is going to do. You should, therefore, drive slowly and have absolute control of your car."

KNUD RASMUSSEN

Knud Rasmussen, the prominent Danish polar explorer, arrived in Nome recently after three and a half years' exploration of the Northwest passage. He brought with him several Eskimos who had been aides to both Peary and MacMillan in their polar expeditions at various times.

ARM BROKEN.

Willard, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Robison of West Mill street, fell Monday afternoon on the porch at the home of his parents and sustained a fracture of his right arm above the wrist. Dr. Holman reduced the fracture. Only a few months ago he sustained a fracture of the left arm.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Edwin Wilson and Miss Ethel Wilson spent the day in Columbus.

John Strahm and H. O. Grant were business visitors in Columbus today.

Mrs. Mrs. R. W. Clark and son, Robert Jr., of Columbus, are guests of her parents, J. Luther Davis, of Washington township.

Lyman P. Teatsworth of North Baltimore, is the guest of his wife at the home her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pickens of Pinkney street.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard R. Wolf, of Hamilton, Ohio, were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wolf.

Saying a Mouthful

"I say, cook," said five-year-old Marjorie, who was feeling hungry, "let's play I'm an awful-looking tramp. I'll ask you to give me a nice piece of pie, and you get frightened and give it to me."—The Progressive Grocer.

Old-Timers Gather for Golden Jubilee of Baseball

Sitting—Tom York, George W. Bradley, Jack Manning, Tom Forster. Standing—Tommy Bond and Sam Crane, all baseball players of another day who gathered at the Broadway Central hotel for the celebration of the golden jubilee of the National league.

COOLIDGE SUBMITS NOMINATIONS

Washington, March 17— (UP.) — Coolidge decided not to give Warren Recess appointment. Warren is said to have declined Recess appointment. Coolidge nominates John D. Sargent, of Vermont and submitted nomination of Jacob Gould Schurman, present minister to China, to be ambassador to Germany.

TWENTY-ONE RECRUITS

Motor Transport Corps No. 145, secured twenty-one young men to join the corps and take the summer training at Camp Perry.

Captain Emil F. Marx of St. Mary's who is stationed at Ft. Hayes, considered this number very gratifying and declared the boys would have a good time at the camp and learn something of military tactics in the school. This number completes the quota.

KID M'COY JURY SAYS HE IS GUILTY

Verdict Acquits Him On Four Charges of Robbery; Guilty of Assault.

Los Angeles, March 17 (UP.)—After deliberating 73 hours a jury Monday night returned a verdict of guilty of assault with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to kill, against Kid McCoy, former actor and prize fighter.

The crimes for which McCoy was convicted call for a penalty of from three to thirty-eight years in prison.

A verdict of not guilty was returned on four charges of robbery.

Japan Subsidizes Radio

Tokyo.—A bill granting a subsidy to the new radio corporation of Japan, established for the promotion of radio intercourse between this country and America, will be introduced in the diet by the department of communications. It will provide for an amount equal to 8 per cent of the capitalization of the concern.

MENDELS ELIMINATE CIRCLEVILLE

Local Team Is Loser in State Journal Tournament Championship.

Mendel Tailors, Chelc A. C., Linden Baptist, Broadway Clothiers, Broad street Maroons and the Clinton A. C. teams stayed in the running for the central Ohio championship Monday night in the Ohio State Journal basketball tournament by winning their tilts from their first-round opponents at the Loy gym, Capital university.

The Mendel Tailors defeated the only out of town team that played during the evening, the Circleville A. C., by the score of 20 to 18.

The Mendel-Circleville contest was the brightest of the program. The out of town team should have won the contest. But they didn't and they have no one to blame but themselves. Outplaying their rivals till the last eight minutes of play and holding a seven-point lead at that time, the entry from the Pickaway county seat failed in using their "smarts" in retaining their safe advantage. Instead they tried for more.

The Circleville decision was a losing one, as the local team put on a spurt that enabled them to come within one point of tying the score with the game only less than three minutes to go. A basket by Andy Nemecek and a free throw by Hamilton gave the Mendel team their winning markers in the last minutes of play.

Local fans claim that Referee Ensteward, of Athens, stole the game for the Columbus team by unfair methods in calling fouls in the last minute of the game. His decision was considered rank and unfair and he was roundly denounced.

IS VITALLY INTERESTED IN HIS WORK

The unqualified success of the 'Gypsy Rover' staged last week by the Circleville high school, was in a large measure due to the work and skill of Professor C. F. Zanglein, training teacher.

Not only did he drill the orchestra of which all our people are justly proud, but wrote much of the music, painted scenery and did many other things so necessary to complete the production.

Circleville is to be congratulated on having such a teacher, whose whole heart is in the work and who labor unceasingly for the welfare of his pupils and the entire community.

MISS RAMONA TREES

Miss Ramona Marcella Trees of Winfield was judged the most beautiful girl in the state of Kansas and was chosen to represent that state at the annual petroleum exposition at Tulsa, Okla. Miss Trees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trees, is a student at the National Park seminary, Forest Glenn, Md., from which she will graduate next year.

NEWS OF NAMES CLUB

If Tellus Oaks, of Kansas City, just had a J in front of his name, he'd make a good after dinner speaker.

R. W. DUNLAP ASSISTANT SECRETARY

Washington, March 16 (UP).—President Coolidge today sent the name of Renick W. Dunlap, Kingston, Ohio, to the senate for confirmation as assistant secretary of agriculture.

Dunlap has been active in state politics for years. He was mentioned as secretary of agriculture before William Jardine, Kansas, was named.

He was a member of the Ohio Senate, seventy-sixth general assembly and was dairy and food commissioner from 1907 to 1911. He was state secretary of agriculture for seven months in 1915.

He is known as an advocate of pure food laws and is the author of the commercial feed stuff law in Ohio.

He is a member of the Ohio State Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau.

Dunlap was born near Kingston, Pickaway county, October 25, 1872. He was educated in the public schools and Ohio State university where he was manager of the football team.

Subsequently, he engaged in farming. In 1900 he was appointed by the state board of agriculture as lecturer for farmers' institutes.

MAY WHEAT MARKET ON DECLINE.

Market Makes Sensational Drop of 10 Cents.

Chicago, March 17 (UP.) — May wheat today recorded one of the most sensational drops in the history of the Chicago board of trade, when opening prices ranged from $1.61 to $1.55 a bushel, compared with the previous close of $1.65. The price then fell off to $1.54, a loss of eleven cents from yesterday's close.

July wheat dropped 5½ cents and September wheat 3½ cents. Traders dumped their holdings overboard following reports that Europe was glutted with breadstuffs and that huge quantities of wheat shipped from this country could find no market and was being dumped back to its owners.

Lost Flower Found

Washington.—A flower species found in early American colonial days and not seen again for 175 years has been rediscovered at Upper Marlboro, Md., near here, by two Washington naturalists, Dr. E. T. Wherry of the United States Department of Agriculture and Dr. J. E. Benedict of the National museum.

The plant is the pink turtlehead known to botanists as Chelone obliqua.

Back and Forth

A new kind of truck has been brought out that travels backward as well as it does forward. A seat facing the regular driver's seat is another innovation for reverse driving.

ELEVATOR KILLS MAN NEIL HOUSE

Columbus, March 17 (UP.)—William Dean Johnson, 24, of Mount Victory, Ohio, was killed today beneath an elevator at the site of the new Neil House where he was employed.

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

Willis Warner, son of Chief of Police William Warner underwent an operation Monday for the removal of adenoids and tonsils. Dr. Stewart and Dr. Courtright performed the operation.

AMBULANCE TRIP.

J. W. Whitten, of Williamsport, was removed to Grant hospital Columbus today in C. E. Hill's ambulance. Mr. Whitten will undergo an operation Wednesday morning.

—Misses Minnie and Hazel Palm have leased the Crist flat on West Main street and will move there April 1.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

POLICEMEN
TOOK A CHANCE

By MARY J. J. WRINN

(By Doubleday, Page & Co., Garden City, N. Y.)

I WAS uneasy about the room when I rented it. It was attractive with its bay window that looked out on two streets, and the lovely maples outside, but it was on the first floor. One good step from the iron rail fence below would make my windows easily. My landlady assured me that two policemen were stationed on the corner opposite and that she herself occupied the adjoining front room. An elderly doctor lived in the back parlor on the other side. Surely that would be protection enough!

"See," she had said, leading me to the window, "one policeman walks up and down the avenue while the other takes care of St. John's place. Almost everybody is in the country at this time of year of course."

Following the gesture of her broad palm I could see that the brown stone fronts on St. John's place were boarded. I took the room. As she had stated, the uniformed enforcers of the law tramped their beat far out of sight, each at regular intervals reporting at the red box on the corner.

Nevertheless I rarely slept well. The slightest sound and I was awake—listening. I had entertained a party of friends during the evening and because the party was late in breaking up I had persuaded Sally Graves to stay all night with me.

The house and the outside world had long since settled into silence when, all at once, I became conscious of voices under my window.

"Oh, is that where she lives?"

"Yes, how about it?"

They were men's voices conversing in guarded undertone.

"She's away?" continued the first.

"Yes."

A moment's silence. I held my breath, petrified.

"You're sure . . . windows open?"

"Dead sure." Then followed a hurried exchange of indistinct words.

"Well, if we're going to do it, let's do it now. It'll be getting light soon."

I bounded out of bed to the window. Through the darkness I could distinguish two figures stealing toward the opposite side of the street.

"What's the matter?" came sleepily from the couch.

I told Sally what I had heard.

"Let's call the doctor," she said, making for the door.

"Better wait awhile," I advised.

"I won't stay in this house another minute," was her reply. She started to dress, while I stood at the window watching, numb with fear. But Sally was a creature of action.

"Let's close the window," she advised. We pulled down three and bolted them but with all our combined strength we couldn't budge the fourth.

"If the policemen would only come along!" I said.

"They're never around when you want them," snapped Sally. "What are you going to do—stand there until those crooks get back? Where's your pocketbook?"

I hadn't the least idea where it was.

"Some one has to watch," I cut in irrelevantly. "How do we know what they're up to?"

"I'm so afraid of a shot, May," salvaged Sally. "Listen!"

Step. Step. Step. Step. Tensely we waited until the form came to view. It was a woman bound on heaven knows what ghastly errand at that hour.

"Don't scream—even if you see them coming," I warned. "We'll simply make for the door."

"You're a fine sight for that!" she said shortly. But she unlocked the door against a hasty exit.

I felt afraid to consign my post to Sally while I dressed. She might shriek at a lurking shadow and needlessly alarm the house. Sally was hysterical.

All at once, as I had expected, a form slouched from the dark area way. Along the opposite side of the street it came. In front of my window the dark figure faced my room as though gauging the distance between the fence and the window ledge. Resolutely he stepped from the curb.

Sally clutched my arm. "Come on," she almost shouted and made for the hall. But terror held me to the spot. The shadowy form had gained the middle of the street. He paused to glance stealthily over his shoulder for his accomplice. Cautiously, from the mysterious area way, emerged the second figure while the first waited. I wanted to scream but I couldn't. I wanted to rush out to Sally, but motive power had left me. The first man was now at the curb.

"Look!" I gasped. I felt rather than saw Sally beside me again. In the man's hand I noted the familiar policeman's club. As the second joined his colleague beneath the window, we noticed that one hand was shielding a spark dangerously close to his lips. All at once, with the rank odor of a cigarette, explanation dawned. It is against regulations for the policemen of Greater New York to smoke while on duty. But here were two who had enough sporting blood to take a chance.

We both laughed with hysterical relief.

"I'm glad the houses on St. John's place are good for something besides moths and burglars," yawned Sally. A few moments later a milk wagon rattled along outside.

FIVE REBUILT TRACTORS.

We have five Fordson tractors that we have taken in trade that are coming thru our shop now. These tractors are dismantled, every part inspected and worn parts replaced and we then sell them as rebuilt tractors and give a guarantee when we sell them. Call and see one of these tractors, if you cannot finance a new one.

Black and White Gown With Colorful Girdle

Severe black and white creations promise to be popular this spring. An effective Chinese girdle of blue crepe, embroidered with gold thread and gold spangles and a blue and gold tassel affords a winsome feature. A large mushroom hat of black taffeta completes the outfit.

Old-Fashioned Jewelry Comes Into Limelight

Old-fashioned jewelry in onyx, set with pearls and diamonds, is more sought after than ever before, and there is a fascination in searching the out-of-the-way shops for the sweet old brooches and carvings, necklaces and ornaments that grandmother thought so elegant. Their charm endures, and they serve as patterns for much of the jewelry that is now in the very height of fashion. The most ultra novelties are done in the style of these fads and fancies of so long ago.

Vanity cases in the newest forms, and costing money, are made of onyx and set with brilliants, a monogram or motif in some pretty conventional design. Cigarette cases, coin purses and chic little containers for powder and a tiny puff are all of this same idea and are going exceedingly well.

The one item in real jewelry that appears to have lost its prestige is the ring. It was once thought to be stylish to wear several rings, the more rings the better evidence that one was rich and fashionable. But lately one sees comparatively few diamond and other jewel-set rings, oftenest but one very handsome ring, particularly if it chances to be an engagement ring. As to that, some of the most chic young women are declining to wear a ring as an engagement symbol, preferring a bracelet or some other ornament, setting aside a long-honored custom.

As rings have gone out somewhat, bracelets, wide antique shapes, slender jeweled styles and the very narrow bangles that almost cover the arm from wrist to elbow are more and more the rage.

Paris Women Turning to Subtlety and Softness

Bobbed hair and overbright complexions, hard hats and barbaric jewelry appear to be on the decline, and cigarettes and slang among the feminine smart set are less aggressively indulged in than in past seasons. Such are the conclusions reached, writes a Paris correspondent, after attending numerous Parisian social functions.

Hard-boiled manners and a high complexion were found to be all wrong as a setting for dresses made of soft kasha in pastel shades, soft silks and muslins and hats with flowing lines. The trend of the hour is toward subtle charm and softness.

Color, however, is playing a much greater part in Paris fashion than at any time previously since the armistice. Black dresses have become less popular and light colors have been steadily on the increase.

The short skirt has had a new lease of life, but is slightly fuller in the back. Sleeves, for evening dress, are also more popular, and the bare arm is no longer considered essential for elegance in dress. The bare back also is less common, and very low-cut dresses rarely are seen except among the show girls.

Favored Neckline for Milady's Dainty Duds

The so-called off-the-shoulder remains the favored neckline for night-robes.

The neckline is not new. As a matter of fact it was seen three or four years ago. The line from shoulder to shoulder is straight at both back and front, and a triangular section, inserted over the shoulder, gives a smart fitted appearance.

There are many possible versions, some involving lace, others restricting themselves to embroidery. Thread-run alencon adapts itself especially well to the treatment. Eyelet embroidery and embroidered scallops may provide decoration, or it may be multiple rows of hand-drawn work that give a delicate openwork effect to the shoulder, front and back sections.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

DEMOCRATIC REORGANIZATION

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for vice president in 1920, and one of the most influential figures in the New York convention last year, has sounded out the party on the advisability of calling a party conference. He has polled delegates to the 1924 convention and announces that there is practical unanimity of sentiment in favor of the suggestion.—Baltimore Sun.

Any rational plan for smoothing out the factional animosities that, with other causes, brought so signal a disaster upon the Democratic party last year, deserves welcome and encouragement. The correspondence between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Senator Walsh of Montana, discloses such a plan. The national committee, brought into closer relations with the state committee, should work every day and every year and the whole political management be put on a sound financial basis. Discussion of candidates should be discouraged.—New York Times.

LIBERTY OFFERS TO PAY

Largest Prize On Record For Story Idea.

One of the biggest prizes of its kind on record is offered by Liberty, the new national weekly magazine, for an idea for a story, which will also be made into a motion picture.

The prize is $50,000, divided into two prizes. $25,000 is offered for a synopsis from which a story can be written. If the author of the synopsis also submits the complete story, written in acceptable form, he will receive the second $25,000, too. If the author of the winning synopsis submits no story or if the accompanying story is not acceptable, the second $25,000 will be paid some well-known author for writing the story. Since the first $25,000 is offered for a synopsis only, this prize is open to every one, irrespective of their ability to write fiction.

The winning story, or the story written from the winning synopsis, will be published in Liberty, and will be made into a Paramount picture by the Famous Players-Lasky corporation. The current issue of Liberty contains complete details of the contest, which will run for several weeks.

We deliver at 8 and 10 o'clock. 10mchd6. HENN BROS.

PRIZE DANCE
GREAT SUCCESS

NEXT EVENT SAINT PATRICK'S CARNIVAL NIGHT.

Saturday evening's prize jitney went over big. In spite of a crowd that was only ordinary in its proportions. Every one present enjoyed the dancing and music to the utmost. The prizes were boxes of candy; first went to Clement Ater, of Williamsport; second to Jim Gattrel, of Circleville. Music was by the State Collegians who continued their pleasing run of successes.

Tuesday night is dedicated to St. Patrick, the patron saint of the Green Little Isle and its natives and descendants. Lent resolutions don't hold on the day of wearing of the green and the Irish will be out in forces. On a feast that has become almost a National holiday 'tis quite appropriate to disport oneself at the dance. It will be the closing appearance of the Collegians on this circuit. A good time goes without saying. 16mchd2.

WE PRINT THE NEWS

SOCIAL CALENDAR

One of the most enjoyable of social meetings of the Monday club was held Monday evening, March 16, in the special rooms of the Presbyterian church. The banquet was in charge of the associate members of the club and they proved wonderful hostesses. The tables were beautiful in decorations of green and white and lighted by green candles. The following program was given:

Reading—Higher Culture .....
..... Mrs. E. F. Anderson
Reading—A City of Paradise .....
..... Mrs. E. A. Allen
Playlet—A Susan Clegg Story .....
..... Miss Sadie
Brunner and Mrs. Carl Ritz
This program was interspersed with games and vocal numbers from the sextette who were attired in old-fashioned costumes and sang ye old-time songs.

The members of the sextette were Mrs. Clark Will, Miss Helen Marion, Miss Carrie Johnson, Miss Estelle Grimes, Mrs. J. O. Eagleson and Mrs. Christian Schwarz. They were accompanied by Miss Abbe Clarke also in old-fashioned costume.

The club is "almost" unanimous in wishing to continue these pleasant social sessions.

W. E. Pickens, who has been ill the past six months celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday anniversary Monday in a very quiet manner. "Billy" received a number of birthday cards, flowers, etc., from his friends and he desires to take this method of thanking each and everyone and assures them that they were received with much gratitude and appreciation.

Mrs. George E. Hammel went to Columbus today to attend a meeting of the Research club held at Fort Hayes hotel and will be the guest of Mrs. C. M. Coleman. She will remain over for a bridge luncheon at the Gray Stone, given by Mrs. N. S. Cook and Mrs. Frank Milligan, Wednesday.

Traded on Eclipse

Primitive man regarded an eclipse of the sun with great awe—for him it was an ill omen of impending disaster, a sign that the gods were angry. And, of course, as soon as the priests, who were the only astronomers (and astrologers) of antiquity, were able to forecast these happenings, eclipses afforded one of the best means of impressing fear upon the multitudes.

WHERE THE RIVER SHANNON FLOWS

There's a pretty spot in Ireland I always claim for my land,
Where the fairies and the blarney will never, never die;
It's the land of the shillelah, my heart
goes back there daily
To the girl I left behind me when we kissed and said good-bye.
I miss the fairs and dances, the pretty coteens' glances,
And the dear old Irish fireside, where the turf a welcome glows;
There is no spot half so pretty, there's no girl half so witty,
As I left in dear old Ireland, where the river Shannon flows.

Chorus

Where dear old Shannon's flowing,
Where the three-leaved shamrock
grows;
Where my heart is I am going,
To my little Irish rose;
And the moment that I meet her,
With a hug and kiss I'll greet her
For there's not a coleen sweeter,
Where the river Shannon flows.

Sure no letter I'll be mailing, for soon
will I be sailing,
And I'll bless the ship that takes me to my dear old Erin's shore;
Then I'll settle down forever, I'll leave the old sod never,
And I'll whisper to my sweetheart,
"Come and take my name, ashore."
A cabin, neat and cozy, I'll get for my own Rosy
In the valley of the Shannon, close beside that dear old stream;
Then the whole world will seem brighter, my heart will beat lighter, Back among the shamrocks life will be to me one long sweet dream.

Tommy on Twins

A boy's composition on twins:
"Twins is a baby, only it's double. It usually arrives about 4:37 in the morning, when a fellow is getting in his best licks, sleepin'. Twins is accompanied by excitement and a doctor.
When twins do anything wrong, their mother can't tell which one to lick, so she gives it to 'em both to make sure.
We got twins at our house and I'd swap 'em enny day for an airdale or most anything."—Boston Transcript.

In a recent issue of this paper the above slogans were printed. Today use these in their advertisements and also on labels and the product itself.

Slogans identify the article to a great extent. business men are using them more frequently and they are becoming quite a fad. Even cities are beginning to adopt the idea and if you watch the newspapers and magazines you are bound to become acquainted with new ones almost daily. How many did you name correctly?

World's Greatest Needs

Among the greatest needs of the world today as listed by an eminent scientist are an alloy ferrous or non-ferrous, possessing higher tenacity than any known combination; a light that will penetrate a fog, refractory material for lining steel-melting furnaces, labels that will not erode or corrode, and a safe method of stopping the rolling of steamers in rough seas.

Apples Important Food

Apples are one of the best sources of iron for the diet. Raisins have been advertised for their iron content. It is true that both fresh grapes and raisins as well as plums and prunes furnish this element, but the apple is the heaviest iron-carrying fruit that we can eat, having 39-100 per cent of iron in its makeup.

AMUSEMENTS

Antonio Moreño and Helene Chadwick are featured in the latest Paramount production, "The Border Legion," now at the Met theater. The story is an adaptation by George Hull of the novel of the same name by Zane Grey. William Howard directed
To those who like a pleasing romatic-drama, flavored with action and thrills, "The Border Legion" is going to prove one of the finest pictures they have ever seen on the screen at the Met.

It's a big story, by a big author, produced in a big way with a big all-star cast. Rockcliffe Fellowes (Gibson Gowland, Charles Ogle and Edward Gibben are but a few of the well-known players appearing in support.

If it wasn't for the fact that the term "special" has been so misused we'd be inclined to use it in describing "The Border Legion." Here's everything that could possibly be crammed into a picture—and just a little more.

We like "The Border Legion" and so will you!

No Car Trades

Prop Wanted

The colored janitor of a church in St. Louis had a violent temper. He was converted, but sometimes his temper would get the best of his good resolutions. On one occasion when he was repenting of one of his lapses, he made this prayer after he had asked the Lord to forgive him: "O Lord, prop me up on the leaning side."—Christian Witness.

Box of Agony

Mr. March, a European customhouse officer in China, records that he saw a man imprisoned seven years in a box, with another eight years to serve.—Family Herald.

Sponge That Stays Wet

A rubber sponge, kept wet by running water, is a new time-saving invention for cleaning automobiles, says Popular Science Monthly. A rubber tubing is fastened to the sponge through a hollow handle and the other end of the tubing is attached to a faucet or garden hose. A small stream of water is sufficient to keep the sponge moist.

Cause of Paralysis Is Lack of Mineral*Lime and Phosphates Are Needed for Strong Bones.

Many hogs suffer from what is commonly called "getting down behind." Some scientists have for years been saying that this paralysis of the hind quarters in hogs is due to lack of mineral constituents in the feed. Others have held to the theory that it was due to lack of vitamins in the ration, resulting in a weakening of the nerves. On the other hand, many farmers believe that this trouble is due to kidney worms. Recently, however, the Ohio experiment station has come to a definite conclusion as a result of a number of experiments. This station claims that the immediate cause of posterior paralysis in hogs is lack of mineral matter in the ration.

Whenever a hog does not obtain enough lime and phosphates in its ration to build strong bones or maintain the bony structure already formed, the lumbar vertebrae become so weakened that they cannot sustain the tension of the powerful back muscles. Thus some lumbar vertebrae are crushed or shortened under the strain and bulging downward they cause impingement upon the spinal cord and paralysis of the hind quarters. If taken in time, this condition can be remedied by feeding more mineral matter and by adding a little olive oil to the ration, olive oil being rich in vitamin A. But this remedy will give results only if used immediately after the paralytic condition has been observed.

Those who would avoid paralysis in the hind quarters of hogs should see to it that a good mineral mixture is supplied whenever the ration fed is deficient in mineral constituents. Hogs that are fed farm-raised grains plus all the tankage they care to eat do not stand in as much need of a mineral mixture as those that are not fed tankage, yet in some cases the addition of mineral to a ration containing tankage has given still better results than when no additional minerals were supplied.

Manure Wasted if Left Exposed in Barnyard

Manure spread on the land directly from the stable has given larger crop yields than equal amounts of manure exposed in the open yard for some time before spreading. In the many tests at the Ohio agricultural experiment station.

The average increase of crops in favor of stall manure over yard-exposed manure, both applied at the rate of eight tons, was $3.40 per acre.

In this experiment extending over a period of 28 years the stall manure is spread on a one-year-old sod in January to be plowed under for corn in early spring. An equal weight of manure is taken from the stalls at the same time and exposed in flat piles until April when it is spread on adjoining plots, after which the treatment of all plots is the same.

Tests at the station show that manure thus exposed in piles lost 35.8 per cent of the original nitrogen, 22.5 per cent of its phosphorus, and 51 per cent of its potassium. This is about one-third of its fertilizing value and readily accounts for the difference in crop yields in favor of direct application.

Owing to the addition of moisture to manure exposed to the weather this loss may be unnoticed.

Birds Need Ventilation

Even in cold weather do not make the mistake of closing the poultry house so tightly that it does not have good ventilation. Chickens can stand cold better than they can stand stuffy dampness and foul air. One of the surest ways to bring on an attack of colds and probably pneumonia is to shut the houses so tight that they do not have good ventilation. Drafts however, should be avoided.

Farm Hints

Use good clean seed for sowing the lawn.

Sharp farmers never tolerate dull tools.

Silage is a summer feed the year round.

A dairy barn doesn't need to be costly to be clean.

Snow keeps bees warm, but don't let ice form over the hives.

With a closed storage house the repairing of farm machinery is more tempting.

The prudent employer doesn't broadcast all the time; he frequently puts the receiver to his ear.

"There is nothing in which God asks so little of us and gives so much as in the planting of a tree."—Selected.

Prediction for 1925. It will be just as profitable to keep down farm expense as to increase the gross income.

Soy beans are unexcelled for planting in combination with corn for hog or lamb pasture. They make a heavy yield of seed and their erect growth prevents trampling by grazing animals, so that the crop is eaten almost completely.

Varied Colors of Planets

The color of the planets are: Mercury, pale ash; Venus, brilliant straw; Mars, reddish ochre; Jupiter, bright silver; Saturn, dull yellow; Uranus, pale green; Neptune, the same.

Peace by Fighting

"My principles is agin' fightin'," said Uncle Eben, "an' I's liable to git terrible riled and pugnacious wif anybody dat tries to make me violate my principles."

Famous English Dwarf

Sir Jeffery Hudson was a noted English dwarf of the Seventeenth century. He was only 20 inches tall until he was nearly 80 years old; then he grew to 3 feet 9 inches.

Not Always on Left Side

The heart is not situated entirely on the left side of the body as is believed by most people. It is in reality found to be on the right side in a great number of people, irrespective of sex.

Justifiable Gladness

One thing we are glad of, as we note the fundamental cause of most of the trouble, is that there aren't any more sexes than there are.—Ohio State Journal.

Built With Method

Houses in Bulgaria are designed so as to blend with the landscape; in fact, they are often indistinguishable from it. This practice dates from the time of the Turkish rule, when it was desirable for Bulgarians to live as unobtrusively as possible.

"What is her home like?"

It's a question women ask of each other at the club, at the theater, at the luncheon.

"Oh, so---so," with the faintest shrug of the shoulders.

Or perhaps, "Why, nice enough,"---with just a little hesitation, "er---nothing unusual, though."

But, sometimes, the reply is:

"Simply beautiful. Not elaborate, but such good taste."

How much it means socially, a beautiful home

How much it counts, that impression the guests carries away.

The Housewife's Car

Every woman knows that she can buy to better advantage if she shops in person; but in bad weather this is impossible unless she has a car.

We will sell you a FORD for a small payment down —balance by the month,—and that solves the problem. In a FORD, the housewife can attend to her daily round of shopping in comfort no matter what the weather—and then enjoy that afternoon bridge, tea or reception properly gowned for the occasion.

Suppose there is a big car in the garage. A FORD won't be long paying for itself in the savings it makes in upkeep. It pays to own two cars when one is a big car and the other a FORD.

Come in and let us tell you how little you pay down to get the car and how little the installments amount to each month. You'll be surprised

F. L. Fickardt.
Dear Sir:—
Send me at once two bottles of your Poultry Medicine, enclosed find one dollar. Elmer Raber.

Baltic, Ohio, Dec. 24, '24.

Mr. Fickardt.
Dear Sir:—
A few words in regard to your Poultry Drops. My flock had a sneezing cold that developed into Deadly Roup.
After I began with your medicine I lost only a few birds which were badly infected, the sneezing in the rest of my flock began to disappear.

In a few weeks' time there was a great difference in my flock of 200 English Leghorn pullets, they began to develop and get red combs and wattles. I am sure Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops will help in egg production, for a healthy bird is bound to lay if it gets the proper feeds.
Yours respectfully,

Elmer Raber.
Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops
is a remedy for Roup, Colds, Sneezing,

Music Score

The word score has several meanings in music. Full score has all the parts of a composition. Instrumental score, for instruments only. Short score, generally applied to a vocal score with a piano or organ accompaniment. Vocal score, where each voice has a line to itself. Piano score, where the orchestral or vocal parts are compressed into a piano part.

Preserving Cut Flowers

Flowers which are fading may be restored by immersing them half-way up their stems in very hot water and allowing them to remain in it until it cools. Then cut off the scalded portions of the stems and place the flowers in clear cold water.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVING CORPS

Numbers Ten Per Cent of Students of Western College For Women.

The Western College for Women (Oxford, Ohio,) holds a record—that ten per cent of the student body are members of the Red Cross Life Saving Corps. The Western College Life Saving Corps, although organized in October, 1924, is built upon a solid foundation.

It was preceded by an organization known as the World Life Saving Association, the tests of which are less strenuous than those of the present Life Saving Corps. But preliminary to both these organizations, there is a college organization, so to speak, which came into existence in the fall of 1915 with the completion of the swimming pool. The college has demanded, during the ten years, that each student be able to pass a third class swimming test (forty yards in good form) before graduation. But may also pass a second and a first class college examination. The requirements for the first class college test, in some respects more rigid than the Red Cross Life Test, include:

1. Form swimming, six different strokes.
2. Fancy diving, six different dives.
3. The performance of at least three water stunts.
4. Knowledge and skill in life saving methods.

Captain Winjer, a representative from the headquarters of the National Red Cross at Washington, D. C., on a recent visit to Western College to review the Red Cross Life Saving Corps, complimented the organization on its enthusiasm, ability and material.

Miss Isabelle Ritt, of this city, is a member of the Corps.

Miss Helen Mack, also a student, has been handicapped on account of a sprained ankle.

Eat Lemons for Health

Lemons are a specific in biliousness—if eaten at first symptoms they will often avert the attack. The are recommended for rheumatism, colds and low fevers. They are excellent for liver complaints, and nothing will so satisfy the thirst in illness as lemons. A noted specialist made the statement: "If more lemons were eaten, there would be less work for the doctors."

PARODY

On "Sheridan's Ride" Describes Dawes' Wild Ride To Senate On Tuesday.

Washington, March 14.—(U. P.)—A burlesque parody of "Sheridan's ride"—describing how Vice President Charles Dawes rode up to the senate Thursday from his hotel in a careening taxicab and failed by seconds to bring his deciding vote to Republicans during balloting on the Warren nomination—was read to the senate by Senator Norris, Nebraska, Republican.

It was a continuation of the subtle parliamentary hazing to which Dawes has been subjected since his inauguration speech in which he aroused some senators by ridiculing the rules of the senate.

But Dawes took it good naturedly and for the first time recognized his critics by saying "the chair cannot refrain from expressing his appreciation of the delicate tribute of the senator from Nebraska."

After describing in poetic language how Republican leaders had hastily called him to cast the deciding ballot which would have meant confirmation of the nomination of Charles B. Warren as Attorney General and informed him that he was "fifteen blocks away" the "tribute" continues:

"But there's a street from the Willard's feast
"A good broad highway leading east,
"And there through the flush of the fading light,
"An auto as black as the steeds of night,

"Was seen to pass as with eagle flight.

"As if it knew the terrible need;
"It stretched away with the utmost speed.

"Hills arose and fell; but its heart was gay

"With Dawes only ten blocks away.

"Under its spinning wheels the road
"Like an arrowy Alpine river flowed
"And the Willard sped away behind
"Like an ocean flying before the wind,

"And the auto, like a bark fed with furnace fire,

"Swept on, with its wild shriek full of fire.

"But lo! In its nearing its heart's desire

"It is snuffing the smoke of the roaring fray,

"With Dawes only two blocks away.

"The first that the General saw were the group

"Of senators, and then the retreating ones,

"What was done? what to do? a glance told him both,

"And striking his fist, with a terrible oath,

"He dashed down the aisle, mid a storm of huzzas

"And the wave of retreat checked its course there.

"Because the sight of the master compelled it to pause,

"With steam and with dust, the black auto was grey,

"By the bash of its light and its red fire's play,

"It seemed to the whole great senate to say,

"I have brought you Dawes all the way,

"From the Willard, down to save the day.

"Hurrah, hurrah for Dawes!"

"Hurrah, hurrah! for this high minded man.

"And when his statue is placed on high,

"Under the dome of the capitol sky,
"The great senatorial temple of fame
"There with the glorious general's name

"Be it said, in letters both bold and bright,

" 'Oh Hell An' Maria,' he has lost us the fight."

Candy From Tree

In India there flourishes a species of tree which produces sugary flowers that are used as candies. The petals of the flowers drop from the tree in the early morning and are picked up by the women and children, who spread them in the sun to dry. A single tree is said to provide 300 pounds of flowers annually.
